

VIDEO CRIME WATCH PROGRAM

What is the Video Crime Watch Program?

The program allows residents to voluntarily add their video systems to a secure, database that can be used by Officers and Investigators to quickly canvas an area for possible video evidence. By bridging technology and our community, this initiative will help the Sunnyvale Police Department and our community to quickly identify and recover critical video footage related to criminal investigations.

How does it work?

If a crime occurs, a police officer or detective can review the files submitted to identify locations that may have footage to assist in an investigation. This can include footage of an offense or any aspect of a case. We will map the information provided internally.

We will access the provided documentation when a crime occurs and contact the person responsible for access to the stored footage. That person can then review their system to identify any footage that might be useful to an investigation and contact the Officer or Investigator to provide additional information or access to the footage.

The goal is to provide a simple process for Investigators and Officers to identify residents and businesses that have systems and are willing to assist in criminal investigations.
